

Warsaw, 23 April 2024

Dear Sirs,

The Institute of Infrastructure, Transport and Mobility SGH
The Institute of Management of the University of Szczecin
The Faculty of Economics of the University of Gdańsk are pleased to inform you about the status of preparation for

20th International Scientific Conference Euro-Trans 2024

“Mobility and Logistics Sectors in a Redefined Framework” to be held in Warsaw on 16-17 September 2024.

The Euro-Trans 2024 conference and the European Transport Congress 2024 will become a forum for presenting scientific research results and exchanging views on transport policy defined and implemented by European Union agencies and governments, business entities and non-governmental organizations in EU member states, as well as in Norway and Switzerland. The main topics will concern the changes in transport policy and other pending problems in transport and logistics sectors, as well as the expected effects of the energy, climate and digital transformation.

As part of the work on the program of the conference, the co-organizers proposed the following leading topics:

- Intended and unintended consequences of EU transport policy. Review and outlook
- Transport as a basic link in the value chain - ESG perspective
- GIS as a mobility management tool
- Global megaprojects for transport infrastructure: only prestigious or vital for survival?
- The future of European railways: are competition and integration really contradictions?
- Air transport and the natural environment. Demands, tools and reasonable prospects

The program will be systematically expanded in the course of further work of the Steering and Scientific Committees. The sessions will be held in both Polish and English.

We kindly invite the community of scientists and doctoral students from Poland and abroad to submit proposals for their presentations or posters. Representatives of business, public authorities and non-governmental organizations are invited to submit their speeches in the area of obtained or planned results of cooperation between the practice and the academia.

Applications in English, which should include:

- title of the speech
- abstract of the presentation (poster) up to 500 characters
- short bio of the author / authors

can be submitted to: eurotrans2024@sgh.waw.pl by May 31, 2024.

Once approved by the Scientific Committee the submissions will be allocated to individual plenary and thematic sessions.

Accepted papers may be published (upon review) in the following journals:

- European Transport Studies (<https://www.sciencedirect.com/journal/european-transport-studies>) – a new journal by Elsevier focused on transport-related issues;
- Journal of Management and Financial Sciences (<https://econjournals.sgh.waw.pl/JMFS>).

We will keep you informed about the details of the conference and conditions of participation. We encourage you to follow the news about the conference, which will be posted on the dedicated website: <https://eurotrans2024.sgh.waw.pl/en>
